HEADLINES

- Both teams look to right the ship after disappointing Jäger Cup openers. Union Omaha lost to high-flying New Mexico by a 2-0 tally that undersells GK Rashid Nuhu's incredible game. Madison, meanwhile, held Indy Eleven scoreless for the better part of 70 minutes before shambling to a 4-0 defeat.

- Last year introduced a new dimension to this rivalry; before 2024, no team had ever scored three times in this fixture. Not only did they fight to a 2-2 draw in early August, just the second time this clash has had four goals total, but late that month came a match for the ages in the Jägermeister Cup, a wild 3-3 draw that culminated in a shootout win for Madison.

- Former Owls flocking north has been a trend in recent years, to the point of now six 'Mingos that have previously donned UO threads. Wallis Lapsley and former USL1 Defender of the Year Damià Viader have joined Boyce, Crull, Murphy, and Sousa in the ex-Owl contingent. All have appeared in at least half of Madison's league matches so far.

- A subplot of Union Omaha's season to date is the search for a scorer. With club record goalscorer Steevan Dos Santos retiring, and last year's breakout star Pedro Dolabella moving to the Championship, the Owls are still waiting for a consistent finisher to emerge; pacey veteran wingback Dion Acoff leads the club at the moment with 3 goals in all competitions.

ABSENCES

- Lagos Kunga (leg)
- Blake Malone (foot)
