HEADLINES

- Union Omaha go into this match looking to snap a four-match losing streak on the road. They also haven't yet kept a clean sheet on the road this season.

- Scoring goals, however, has not been an issue for the Owls of late. They have nine in their last three matches. They'll need to keep that pace up, though, as prior to their 4-3 slugfest loss to Madison in the USL Cup, they were held scoreless in three straight away matches.

- Their rotating cast of attackers can crop up at any moment to make a difference, and over the weekend it was second-year pro Sergio Ors Navarro who came up with a brace. With one goal in the 9th minute and another in the 80th, he was firing all match long to claw his side a draw against Westchester.

- There's potential here for a familiar face to square off against Union Omaha as well, with Lagos Kunga rounding into match form after struggling with an injury last year with the Owls. Kunga has 44 minutes in the league with Portland, on three substitute appearances.
